The Breath of Life

"Love must be sincere. Hate what is evil; cling to what is good. Be devoted to one another in love. Honor one another above yourselves. Never be lacking in zeal, but keep your spiritual fervor, serving the Lord. Be joyful in hope, patient in affliction, faithful in prayer. Share with the Lord's people who are in need. Practice hospitality. Bless those who persecute you; bless and do not curse. Rejoice with those who rejoice; mourn with those who mourn. Live in harmony with one another. Do not be proud, but be willing to associate with people of low position. Do not be conceited."

Romans
12:9-16

WTF fun fact #13726

The term "scientist" didn't exist until 1834, when it was coined by William Whewell, a Cambridge University historian and philosopher of science. He aimed to create a unifying term that would accurately describe people engaged in various scientific fields. Before "scientist," other descriptors like "natural philosopher" and "savant" were used, but Whewell chose "scientist" to reflect the unity and artistic nature of scientific work.

Buying Healthful Food

(NAPSA)—Families across America say that the cost of healthy groceries makes it hard for them to cook healthy meals, according to the national survey It's Dinnertime.

You don't have to spend a lot of dough to get good food. The next time you're at the grocery store, try these tips:

- Buy fresh produce when it's in season—it's less expensive and tastes better that way. Also look at frozen and canned fruits and vegetables. They often cost less than fresh and may be more nutritious.

Eat healthy on a tight budget with smart shopping.

- Compare unit prices, most often found on a small tag on the shelf under the item. Compare the cost of different-sized containers and different brands.

- Read food labels. Consult the "% Daily Value" to find out if a serving of food is high (20 percent or more) or low (5 percent or less) in a nutrient. Choose foods with lower percentages of saturated fat and sodium.

- Choose whole grains. They keep you full longer. Look for the word "whole" (such as "whole wheat" or "whole grain flour") in the first ingredient. Other common whole grains include brown rice and oatmeal.

This advice and the It's Dinnertime survey come from the experts at Share Our Strength's Cooking Matters®, sponsored by the ConAgra Foods® Foundation and Walmart. Cooking Matters is part of the No Kid Hungry campaign, a national movement to end child hunger in America by connecting kids with healthy food every day. Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows. Whoever sows to please their flesh, from the flesh will reap destruction; whoever sows to please the Spirit, from the Spirit will reap eternal life. Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up. Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all people, especially to those who belong to the family of believers.

Galatians 6: 7 - 10

Ready for some fun facts?
There are thousands of species of cicadas in the world, but only about 10 "periodical" cicadas. (The rest show up every year.) Of those 10, seven live in North America.

This year is somewhat special because there are two broods emerging at once - but not in Tennessee. We're hosting one brood that's on a 13-year life cycle. Other parts of the country are seeing a brood on a 17-year life cycle. People in Central Illinois live in an overlap zone, which may mean they're seeing both broods emerging at once.

As these flying friends are YOLO-ing aboveground, they're mating, chirping and hatching babies. Their babies will then burrow underground and chill/eat/sleep for 13 years until they emerge.

This means every cicada you see right now was born exactly 13 years ago. You know what this means: a mega cicada bar mitzvah. Everyone is invited!

They don't fly at you because they're blind — cicadas actually have five eyes and excellent vision. In fact, they fly at you because they think you're a tree.

As unique as this year is because of the whole 13-year/17-year convergence, Tennessee will actually host an emergence of a different brood of cicadas ... next summer.

Preserve Tapes, Movie Film, Slides And Photos: Five Tips For Treasuring Memories

(NAPSA)—Produce isn't the only perishable in your home—memories are at risk, as well. With the introduction of new cameras and photo services every year, taking proper precaution and care of your growing collection of videos, photographs and slides is key to treasuring these captured moments forever.

Rest assured—resources abound for digitally preserving your memories to make them last. Revisit your nostalgia and read on to get started:

You can preserve your memories before it's too late.

1. Convert your tapes before they deteriorate—for VHS and most camcorder tape formats, color and sharpness can be lost within just a few years.
  2. Wow your loved ones by pulling together old photos, images and videos into personalized DVDs—a great gift for any occasion.
  3. Ship images and videos directly to sites such as YesVideo's Memory Safe service that transfers, protects and hosts your memories for sharing with friends and family.
  4. Visit the photo station at CVS, Costco, Sam's Club, Walgreens, Ritz Camera, Walmart or Rite Aid to drop off your tapes, movie film reels, and photos for digital conversion. Promotions abound during the winter shopping season, so watch out for nearby sales.
  5. Recycle your old electronics—Most cities offer safe, sustainable recycling stations for equipment. Check listings for a location nearby.
- Converting digital media can be a tricky thing—but be sure to preserve your memories before it's too late.
- For more tips and tricks on how to keep your old photo and video memories alive, visit www.yesvideo.com/faq.aspx.

WTF fun fact #13728

Three-toed sloths, native to Central and South American rainforests, move so slowly that algae grow on their fur. This algae not only provides the sloths with excellent camouflage against predators but also fosters a tiny ecosystem where moths can thrive.

and fruits. Their slow movement minimizes detection by predators like jaguars and harpy eagles. They only come down from the trees once a week to defecate. Their slow motion and excellent camouflage make them practically invisible to many forest predators. This trait is key to their survival despite their apparent vulnerability due to their speed.

Three-toed sloths are nature's slowest-moving mammals. Their slow pace is not just due to laziness but has evolved for survival. These fascinating creatures live in the tropical forests of Central and South America. Their lethargic lifestyle helps them conserve energy, crucial for their survival in their low-nutrient environment. Their slow metabolism means they do not have to eat a lot, as they can survive on leaves, buds,

Hot Dr. Pepper, a quirky drink from the 1960s, involves heating the soda to 180 degrees and serving it with a thin lemon slice. This warm, sweet drink started as a corporate ploy to boost winter sales but remains a nostalgic, retro favorite for those seeking a cozy beverage on cold days.

Humble yourselves, therefore, under God's mighty hand, that he may lift you up in due time. Cast all your anxiety on him because he cares for you. Be alert and of sober mind. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour. Resist him, standing firm in the faith, because you know that the family of believers throughout the world is undergoing the same kind of sufferings. And the God of all grace, who called you to his eternal glory in Christ, after you have suffered a little while, will himself restore you and make you strong, firm and steadfast. The best preparation for tomorrow is doing your best today.
- H. Jackson Brown, Jr.

"Martin Luther, who is recognized for his work in reforming the church, had one deep desire that drove him every day of his life: he wanted everyone to have a copy of the Bible and a song book in their own language. He had an unswerving belief that people needed God to speak to them directly through His Word and the songs they sang during times of worship at home. This was not a new idea, but one that had its beginnings in the earliest worship of the Lord. Music and God's Word have always been a very important ingredient in worship. When there is joy in the hearts of the faithful, praising

God is a natural part of life and is always evident in times of worship. With shame and sorrow the captives of Babylon admitted this in Psalm 137:4. As their captors ridiculed them for it they said, "How can we sing the songs of the Lord while in a foreign land?" Sin separated them from God and they lost the joy of their salvation. It will do the same to us. In the Old Testament we find many occasions of God's children coming together to sing and shout and praise the Lord. In Psalm 95:1 the "worship leader" looked at the crowd before him and said let's "sing for joy to the Lord; let us shout aloud to the Rock of our salvation." That invitation remains open to us today. When we pause and ponder the grace of God in saving us and becoming our "Rock" - our only source of safety and security in times of trial and temptation, defeat and despair - it's time to lift our voices in worship.

A Story To Sing About

Travel the world with a new book and album to discover why people sing—to have fun and share stories; to pass the time and remember times past; and to come together and celebrate.

simple enough query but a meaningful one. This spirited offering delivers good answers. Following a read-aloud, children should be strongly encouraged to give their vocal chops a hearty workout. We're singing the praises of this joyful charmer," said Kirkus Reviews. Publishers Weekly adds: "Rhyming text lists ways music can express and share emotions. Amplifying the text's joyful tenor, Tsui's illustrations feature smiling characters. Concluding with a call to action ("What will YOU sing?"), this sampling of visually suggested styles [is] inspirational."

Published in hardcover and audio by HarperCollins, it's available wherever books are sold.

(NAPS)—The next time you listen to a lullaby, a love song, carols or karaoke, consider this: Why do people sing?

A charming answer to that intriguing question comes from YouTube creators and musicians Sam Tsui and Casey Breves. Their new book, "Why Do We Sing?," is one adults will enjoy as much as their kids. It's an adventure around the world to celebrate the role of music throughout many cultures.

With gentle rhyming text, it's a delightful introduction to the magical world of singing—from Bollywood to Broadway to your own backyard.

The married creators' original songs and covers have been viewed and streamed over a billion times (and counting), so it's fitting that the authors have released a companion album with Republic Records: Kids & Family alongside the book. Featuring original songs and celebrating the book's global themes, each song on the album draws inspiration from a different genre featured in the book: opera, K-Pop, campfire songs, mariachi, and more.

While this gently inspirational book about the power of music is suitable for any reader, the inspiration comes from Sam and Casey's own family: their daughter, Elaia, and their cat, Alfie, are featured on every page.

The book encourages empathy, appreciating diversity, and respect for others, and has been well received by the critics:

"The authors pose the titular question and, in bouncy, lilting verse, provide brief, thought-provoking answers. It's a

STATISTICS DON'T LIE!!!

How to stay safe in the World today! Where IS the Safest Place?

1. Avoid riding in automobiles because they are responsible for 20% of all fatal accidents.

2. Do not stay home because 17% of all accidents occur in the home.

3. Avoid walking on streets or sidewalks because 14% of all accidents occur to pedestrians.

4. Avoid traveling by air, rail, or water because 16% of all accidents involve these forms of transportation.

5. Of the remaining 33%, 32% of all deaths occur in Hospitals. So, above all else, avoid hospitals.

But... You will be pleased to learn that only .001% of all deaths occur in worship services in church, and these are usually related to previous physical disorders. Therefore, logic tells us that the safest place for you to be at any given point in time is at church! And Bible study is safe too! The percentage of deaths during Bible study is even less. So, Attend church, and read your Bible. IT WILL SAVE YOUR LIFE!

Planting a Garden by Lisa Luck

April has come and gone. It is time to seriously start thinking about planting a garden if you are so inclined. I checked the weather.gov website to see when typically is a good time to plant in Tennessee but didn't get much help in finding an appropriate day. Temperatures tend to fluctuate wildly in May, from 30 degrees in Clarksville which was the coldest temperature ever observed in May, to 99 degrees also in Clarksville, the hottest day recorded in Tennessee in May thus far. In Putnam County, the average last Spring frost is April 20, which means there could be freezing weather even after that. Old timers used to say, 'Plant when the oak leaves are the size of squirrels' ears,' and that seems like as good a time as any. The fact is – nobody really knows. Your guess is as good as mine. Every Spring is a new year in the grand adventure called gardening. Nobody is an expert. As weather patterns change we will continue to garden as we always have – through trial and error.

It is easy to find plants to put into the ground. Farmer's Markets, local nurseries, and bigger stores are overflowing with herb and vegetable starts ready to drop into the ground. For heat loving plants, such as cucumbers, tomatoes and peppers, the later you wait in May to plant the healthier the plants will likely be. Cold weather slows them down and can make them more susceptible to disease. The time to plant cooler weather plants has passed and the quickly approaching heat will slow them down.

When choosing plants, the ones that will grow best are native plants. Native plants are species of plants found naturally in our region. Some plants that are available for sale are meant to be ornament inside but can become invasive outside. Invasive plants will wreak havoc in your yard and can spread to others' yards, too. Many cases of invasive plants or animals started because they were brought in from other countries. Perfect conditions cause populations to explode and are difficult to contain.

Although many people till their yards to get ready to plant, tilling disturbs the soil structure and kills beneficial organisms that live there. To plant, dig a hole and tuck the plant in with minimal disturbance. Others like to till to kill the weed seeds but this brings them all to the surface so they can sprout at the slightest hint of warm weather. Covering the surface between newly planted plants with cardboard and then wood chips will deter weeds from growing up around the plants. Mulching with hay will spread weed seeds. Mulching with straw spreads oat, barley, rye or wheat seeds – which are also weeds in a garden unless you are growing them to eat.

Healthy soil makes for healthy plants. Amendments such as organic mushroom compost provide necessary nutrients for plants. It's an exciting time and gardening possibilities are endless. It's time to embark on this summer's gardening adventure!

Healthful Eating Made Easier

(NAPSA)—When you're looking for an economical, easy and enjoyable food that's both weight-wise and heart-healthy, look to peanuts—especially USA-grown peanuts. Protein-packed peanuts fuel you up without weighing you down or leaving you unsatisfied.

Scientific evidence suggests that eating 1.5 ounces of nuts, such as peanuts, every day as part of a diet low in saturated fat and cholesterol may reduce the risk of heart disease. In addition, peanuts are a good source of plant-based protein, and plant-based diets are considered a good way to shed unwanted pounds, keep certain types of cancer at bay and reduce the risk of heart disease and diabetes.

What's more, peanut flour is gluten free and can be used as a thickener for soups, in a variety of breads and pastries and as a creative and flavorful coating for meat and fish.

One marvelous meal you can make with peanuts is this:

Posole-Green Chili Peanut Stew

- 1 can (15½ ounces) golden hominy
- 1 can (14.5 to 15.75 ounces) fat-free, reduced-sodium chicken broth
- 1 cup water
- 1 medium onion, chopped (about 1½ cups)
- 4 medium garlic cloves, peeled and thinly sliced (2 tablespoons)
- 1 can (4 ounces) diced green chilies*
- 1½ teaspoons ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon chili powder
- ½ cup dry roasted, unsalted peanuts, chopped
- 1 can (10% ounces) low-fat, low-sodium cream of mushroom soup

This hearty stew is fast and easy to make and serves as a satisfying, full-flavored luncheon or light supper.

Drain hominy and combine with broth, water, onion, garlic, chilies, cumin and chili powder in large saucepan. Bring to boil and simmer 10 minutes to blend flavors. Add peanuts and mushroom soup and stir until evenly mixed. Return to boil and simmer 5 minutes longer. Garnishes: parsley sprigs, dashes of chili powder or paprika and extra peanuts.

*For a milder stew, use ½ can (4-ounce size) green chilies.

Nutrition per serving: 280 calories; 9g protein; 35g carbohydrate; 12g fat (5g monounsaturated; 2g saturated); 2mg cholesterol; 6g fiber; 740mg sodium.

Peanuts and peanut butter are versatile and fit into almost any eating plan. Whether you are trying to eat gluten-free, vegetarian, vegan or heart-healthy meals or just maintain healthy eating habits, peanuts can be part of your diet and add great flavor to your favorite recipes.

Do not merely listen to the word, and so deceive yourselves. Do what it says. Anyone who listens to the word but does not do what it says is like someone who looks at his face in a mirror and, after looking at himself, goes away and immediately forgets what he looks like. But whoever looks intently into the perfect law that gives freedom, and continues in it - not forgetting what they have heard, but doing it - they will be blessed in what they do.

Life shrinks or expands in proportion to one's courage.
- Anais Nin

Opportunity is missed by most people because it is dressed in overalls and looks like work.
- Thomas A. Edison

...When was the last time you looked up?

It's so easy to get tied up in the here and now. We can find ourselves plugged in, surfing, chatting, or just wired with the madness of our lives.

This is the time to set limits on those things in our lives which were supposed to free up the limit. It's time to turn off the phones, shut off the computers, and get plugged in where it counts.

Our spouses, children, families, and most importantly our relationship with our Father, Lord, and Savior.

When was the last time you had a heart to heart with him? When was the last time you sat and listened for his voice? When was the last time you told him how much he means to you? If you can't remember, then it's time to do it!

Most people talk about how lovely heaven will be. How we are laying our 'riches' up for heaven and not this earth. But did you realize that our treasures will matter little if our Father doesn't recognize our face. Do you realize how insignificant our glory will be if we are denied the presence of our Lord? Can you fathom eternity in darkness, trial, and pain? How long is eternity? How long is forever?

Don't put off for tomorrow, what you can do right now. Stop what you are doing, and start pursuing! That's what God is looking for. He wants to be sought after, loved, and He's looking for a relationship with You.

Everything else falls into place ~ when your place is right
With God.

WTF fun fact #13724

Despite significant advances in robotics, today's robots still fall short of replicating the extraordinary abilities of animals. While robots excel in controlled environments like assembly lines, they still struggle with the unpredictable terrain and dynamic challenges that animals navigate with ease.

Remember this: Whoever sows sparingly will also reap sparingly, and whoever sows generously will also reap generously. Each of you should give what you have decided in your heart to give, not reluctantly or under compulsion, for God loves a cheerful giver. And God is able to bless you abundantly, so that in all things at all times, having all that you need, you will abound in every good work. As it is written: "They have freely scattered their gifts to the poor; their righteousness endures forever."

Now he who supplies seed to the sower and bread for food will also supply and increase your store of seed and will enlarge the harvest of your righteousness. You will be enriched in every way so that you can be generous on every occasion, and through us your generosity will result in thanksgiving to God.
