The Breath of Life

"You adulterous people, don't you know that friendship with the world means enmity against God? Therefore, anyone who chooses to be a friend of the world becomes an enemy of God. Or do you think Scripture says without reason that he jealously longs for the spirit he has caused to dwell in us? But he gives us more grace. That is why Scripture says: "God opposes the proud but shows favor to the humble."
 Submit yourselves, then, to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Come near to God and he will come near to you. Wash your hands, you sinners, and purify your hearts, you double-minded. Grieve, mourn and wail. Change your laughter to mourning and your joy to gloom. Humble yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up."

ROMANS 3: 22 - 26
This righteousness is given through faith in Jesus Christ to all who believe. There is no difference between Jew and Gentile, for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God, and all are justified freely by his grace through the redemption that came by Christ Jesus. God presented Christ as a sacrifice of atonement, through the shedding of his blood - to be received by faith. He did this to demonstrate his righteousness, because in his forbearance he had left the sins committed beforehand unpunished - he did it to demonstrate his righteousness at the present time, so as to be just and the one who justifies those who have faith in Jesus.

HOME MAINTENANCE

Why Changing Your HVAC Filter in Winter Matters More Than You Think

(NAPS)—When temperatures drop and we spend more time indoors, your HVAC system becomes one of the hardest-working appliances in your home. From keeping your living spaces warm and comfortable to circulating the air your family breathes every day, your system is busy around the clock during the winter months. That's why changing your HVAC filter regularly in winter is one of the simplest and most important steps you can take to protect your home's indoor air quality.

Winter = More Indoor Air Contaminants

During the colder season, windows stay closed, doors open less often, and fresh outdoor air doesn't move through your home as easily. Meanwhile, indoor activities like cooking, cleaning, burning candles, and simply staying inside more often all increase the amount of dust, dander, and particles floating around your home.

A clean HVAC filter helps trap these contaminants before they circulate through your air ducts and back into the air you breathe.

A Dirty Filter Makes Your System Work Harder

When your filter becomes clogged with dust, pet hair, debris, and other winter buildup, the airflow through your HVAC system decreases. That means your furnace must work harder to push warm air into your home, using more energy and increasing the risk of breakdowns.

A clean filter keeps air moving freely, helping your system run efficiently and reducing stress on expensive components.

Clean Filters = Cleaner Air All Season Long

Winter air is often dry, and when combined with a dirty filter, it can leave your home feeling stuffy or dusty. Clean filters help:

To keep contaminants out of your house this winter, get your air ducts cleaned and the filter changed.

- Reduce allergens like dust and dander
- Minimize odors
- Improve airflow and overall comfort
- Keep your home's air fresher and healthier

For families with pets, allergies, or respiratory concerns, winter filter changes are even more important.

Don't Forget the Bigger Picture

Your HVAC filter is just one part of your home's air quality puzzle. Dust, debris, and contaminants can still build up inside your air ducts, especially when your system is running nonstop all winter long. Scheduling a professional inspection or cleaning with a NAD-CA-member company can ensure your entire system is working efficiently and circulating truly clean air.

Keep Your Home Breathing Easy This Winter

Changing your filter is a small task that pays off big, helping your HVAC system run better, improving indoor air quality, and keeping your home comfortable all season long. Make it part of your winter routine and enjoy cleaner, healthier air every day.

Foot Facts

Your Feet Don't Have To Hurt

(NAPSA)—Put your feet up—you're going to take more than 8,000 steps tomorrow. In fact, over your lifetime, you'll probably walk more than 100,000 miles. That's the equivalent of walking around the whole world at the equator four times.

Did You Know?

You accumulate 150 tons of impact on each foot in a three-mile jog.

One quarter of the bones in your body are in your feet.

Walking is the best exercise for your feet.

Four in five Americans will experience foot problems.

MARK 11: 22 - 25

"Have faith in God," Jesus answered. "Truly I tell you, if anyone says to this mountain, 'Go, throw yourself into the sea,' and does not doubt in their heart but believes that what they say will happen, it will be done for them. Therefore I tell you, whatever you ask for in prayer, believe that you have received it, and it will be yours. And when you stand praying, if you hold anything against anyone, forgive them, so that your Father in heaven may forgive you your sins."

ISAIAH 26: 1 - 6

Our city is strong! We are surrounded by the walls of God's salvation. Open the gates to all who are righteous; allow the faithful to enter. You will keep in perfect peace all who trust in you, all whose thoughts are fixed on you!

Trust in the Lord always, for the Lord God is the eternal Rock. He humbles the proud and brings down the arrogant city. He brings it down to the dust. The poor and oppressed trample it underfoot, and the needy walk all over it.

All About the Great Lakes

The Great Lakes — Superior, Huron, Michigan, Ontario, and Erie — make up the largest body of fresh water on Earth, accounting for one-fifth of the freshwater surface on the planet at 6 quadrillion gallons. The area of all the Great Lakes is 95,160 square miles (246,463 square kilometers), nearly the same size as the United Kingdom, and larger than the U.S. states of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Vermont, and New Hampshire combined. The Great Lakes have a total shoreline of approximately 10,500 miles, and provide drinking water for over 40 million people. Lake Superior, the largest of the Great Lakes, by itself is the second largest lake in the world by area, and Lake Michigan is the largest lake in the world that is completely contained in one single country.

The lakes are on the U.S.-Canadian border, touching Ontario in Canada and Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York in the United States. About 34 million people in the United States and Canada live in the Great Lakes basin. More than 3,500 species of plants and animals inhabit the Great Lakes basin, including 350-plus species of fish.

There are a number of rivers and tributaries connecting the Great Lakes. Lakes Huron and Michigan are sometimes considered a single lake, called Lake Michigan-Huron, because they are one hydrological body of water connected by the Straits of Mackinac. The straits are 5 miles (8 km) wide and 120 feet (37 m) deep; the water levels — currently at 577 feet (176 m) — rise and fall together, and the flow between Michigan and Huron frequently reverses direction. Lake Erie and Lake Ontario are connected by the Niagara River, including Niagara Falls. The St. Lawrence River connects Lake Ontario to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, which leads out to the Atlantic Ocean.

The Great Lakes are dotted with more than 30,000 islands. While many of the islands are small and uninhabitable, the largest is Lake Huron's Manitoulin Island (1,068 square miles or 2,766 square km), which is also the largest island in any inland body of water on the planet. Once vital to fur trading and regional development in the early history of Canada and the United States, the Great Lakes (in modern times) remain today a significant transportation route for iron ore, steel, petroleum, grain, American automobiles, and more. Moving eastward, Lake Ontario flows into the St. Lawrence River & Seaway, which permits the passage of deep-water ships back and forth between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic Ocean. It includes a series of man-made canals, locks and dams, and is considered one of the most vital shipping routes on the planet.

The Great Lakes contained 21% of the world's surface fresh water around the year 2000: 5,472 cubic miles. This is enough water to cover the 48 contiguous U.S. states to a uniform depth of 9.5 feet. With a total shoreline of 10,500 miles, traversing the shoreline of all the lakes would cover a distance roughly equivalent to travelling half-way around the world at the equator. Due to their sea-like characteristics (rolling waves, sustained winds, strong currents, great depths, and distant horizons) the five Great Lakes have also long been referred to as inland seas.

“The New High School Principal”

Author Unknown

MEMO: To the students and faculty of our high school:

I am your new principal, and honored to be so. There is no greater calling than to teach young people. I would like to apprise you of some important changes coming to our school. I am making these changes because I am convinced that most of the ideas that have dominated public education in America have worked against you, against your teachers and against our country.

First, this school will no longer honor race or ethnicity. I could not care less if your racial makeup is black, brown, red, yellow or white. I could not care less if your origins are African, Latin American, Asian or European, or if your ancestors arrived here on the Mayflower or on slave ships. The only identity I care about, the only one this school will recognize, is your individual identity -- your character, your scholarship, your humanity. And the only national identity this school will care about is American. This is an American public school, and American public schools were created to make better Americans. If you wish to affirm an ethnic, racial or religious identity through school, you will have to go elsewhere. We will end all ethnicity-, race- and non-American nationality-based celebrations. They undermine the motto of America, one of its three central values -- e pluribus Unum, “from many, one.” And this school will be guided by America’s values. This includes all after-school clubs. I will not authorize clubs that divide students based on any identities. This includes race, language, religion, sexual orientation or whatever else may become in vogue in a society divided by political correctness. Your clubs will be based on interests and passions, not blood, ethnic, racial or other physically defined ties. Those clubs just cultivate narcissism -- an unhealthy preoccupation with the self -- while the purpose of education is to get you to think beyond yourself. So we will have clubs that transport you to the wonders and glories of art, music, astronomy, languages you do not already speak, carpentry and more. If the only extracurricular activities you can imagine being interesting in are those based on ethnic, racial or sexual identity, that means that little outside of yourself really interests you.

Second, I am uninterested in whether English is your native language. My only interest in terms of language is that you leave this school speaking and writing English as fluently as possible. The English language has united America’s citizens for over 200 years, and it will unite us at this school. It is one of the indispensable reasons this country of immigrants has always come to be one country. And if you leave this school without excellent English language skills, I would be remiss in my duty to ensure that you will be prepared to successfully compete in the American job market. We will learn other languages here -- it is deplorable that most Americans only speak English -- but if you want classes taught in your native language rather than in English, this is not your school.

Third, because I regard learning as a sacred endeavor, everything in this school will reflect learning’s elevated status. This means, among other things, that you and your teachers will dress accordingly. Many people in our society dress more formally for Hollywood events than for church or school. These people have their priorities backward. Therefore, there will be a formal dress code at this school.

Fourth, no obscene language will be tolerated anywhere on this school’s property -- whether in class, in the hallways or at athletic events. If you can’t speak without using the f-word, you can’t speak. By obscene language I mean the words banned by the Federal Communications Commission, plus epithets such as “Nig@#,” even when used by one black student to address another black, or “bi@#,” even when addressed by a girl to a girlfriend. It is my intent that by the time you leave this school, you will be among the few your age to instinctively distinguish between the elevated and the degraded, the holy and the obscene.

Fifth, we will end all self-esteem programs. In this school, self-esteem will be attained in only one way -- the way people attained it until decided otherwise a generation ago -- by earning it. One immediate consequence is that there will be one valedictorian, not eight.

Sixth, and last, I am reorienting the school toward academics and away from politics and propaganda. No more time will devoted to scaring you about smoking and caffeine, or terrifying you about sexual harassment or global warming. No more semesters will be devoted to condom wearing and teaching you to regard sexual relations as only or primarily a health issue. There will be no more attempts to convince you that you are a victim because you are not white, or not male, or not heterosexual or not Christian. We will have failed if any one of you graduates this school and does not consider him or her inordinately lucky -- to be alive and to be an American.

Now, please stand and join me in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of our country. As many of you do not know the words, your teachers will hand them out to you.

"I am the vine; you are the branches. If you remain in me and I in you, you will bear much fruit; apart from me you can do nothing. If you do not remain in me, you are like a branch that is thrown away and withers; such branches are picked up, thrown into the fire and burned. If you remain in me and my words remain in you, ask whatever you wish, and it will be done for you. This is to my Father's glory, that you bear much fruit, showing yourselves to be my disciples."

Recipe Korner

A Lovely Lemon Cake

(NAPS) - You can add some zest to your dessert table with a delightful lemon cake make with a simple recipe from Ellen Wright's fifth cookbook: Best of the Best (full of her best and most favorite recipes and available on Amazon).

The cake is moist and velvety, travels well and is great to bring to a pot-luck dinner. In short, it is a wonderful cake well worth knowing.

Lemon Cake with Lemon Glaze
Makes 8 to 10 servings

- 1 package yellow cake mix
 - 1 package instant pudding, lemon flavored
 - ½ cup water
 - ¼ cup sweet sherry, port, or orange juice
 - ¾ cup canola oil
 - 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
 - 4 large whole eggs
- For the glaze:
- 1 cup confectioners sugar
 - 1 tablespoon lemon juice

1. Preheat oven 350 degrees Fahrenheit.
2. Grease and flour a bundt pan. Knock out the excess flour.
3. In a large mixing bowl using an electric mixer on medium speed, place the mixes, oil, eggs, and sherry and mix for 5-10 minutes.
4. Pour the cake batter into the prepared bundt pan and bake in the middle of the oven for 45 minutes or until the sides of the cake are pulling away from the pan.
5. Cool 10 minutes and loosen with a sharp knife until you can unmold the cake easily.

For the lemon glaze:

In a small bowl, add the lemon juice to the confectioner's sugar and mix with a fork until it is smooth. Drizzle the glaze on the cake when it is still warm, but not hot.

A sweet treat anytime is an easy-to-bake (and heavenly to eat) lemon cake

Ellen's Tips:

She's not above using a shortcut to reach a good result.

- If the cake breaks, take the piece out and place it in its rightful position. When you glaze, it won't show.
- This cake can be made ahead of time. Just make sure to wrap it well in plastic wrap with toothpicks stuck in the top so the glaze won't spoil.

About The Author

Ellen Wright has been cooking and entertaining for more than forty years. Before writing cookbooks, she served as an assistant and recipe tester to James Beard and hosted his 75th birthday party, where he declared, "Ellen, I don't know anyone who is better at bringing people together, making them feel at home, and serving a damn good meal."

Wright studied painting and drawing in college before she applied her artistic talent to the kitchen. In addition to working with Beard, Wright has also studied under Madhur Jaffrey, Lydie Marshall, and Julia Child and has done cooking demonstrations in over 30 cities through these last 25 years.

For you created my inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb. I praise you because I am fearfully and wonderfully made; your works are wonderful, I know that full well. My frame was not hidden from you when I was made in the secret place, when I was woven together in the depths of the earth.

Your eyes saw my unformed body; all the days ordained for me were written in your book before one of them came to be. How precious to me are your thoughts, God! How vast is the sum of them!

Young Timothy was helping his Dad clear a lot next to their home for a garden. Things went well until Tim ran into a large stone that he couldn't budge. After struggling for a few moments he called to his Dad and said, "Dad, this one is too big for me to handle. What should I do?" "Well," said his Dad wanting him to learn a lesson, "what have you tried to do?" "I've pulled on it with both hands," he said looking down at the stone. "And I've tried to pull it with a hoe, too, but that didn't work either." "Sounds like you've tried to move it with all the strength that you have," his Dad said patiently. "Sure have, Dad. There's nothing else for me to do but give up on it," he said with discouragement. "Give up, son? Why would you give up?" he asked. "There's nothing else I can do," said Tim. "Oh, but there is. You can always call on me to help you, Son," he said with compassion. Often God allows us to realize how weak we are without Him. We struggle and fail. We try and give up. We worry and become depressed. We think and realize that many things are beyond us. We practice and still make mistakes. We work and still can't make ends meet. Then suddenly we realize that God has put a "gap" between us and the solution to our problem. It's His way of saying, "You can always call on me for help. And when you do, I will answer you and I will be with you!"

Managing Vacation Waste by Lisa Luck

I don't take much time off each year. There is always too much to do and too little time to get it done. However, I just returned from a one-day vacation. Since I've returned, I've puzzled over how one can reduce the amount of waste one generates while traveling. It is hard to avoid the single-use disposable packaging that is used for all products to make it convenient for travelers. Although it is convenient, it is also very expensive. In addition, very little of this packaging can be recycled so it must be discarded in the trash can. For the items that can be recycled, they should be recycled at home because most hotels do not have recycling collection bins.

As more attention is paid to managing waste properly and the importance of reusing rather than discarding, some hotels have eliminated the little plastic bottles of shampoo, conditioner and body wash provided in the bathroom. The little bottles have been replaced with large, reusable bottles that are attached to the wall in the shower. This does reduce the amount of waste each person who stays in the hotel generates. I take my own products just in case the hotel still provides the little disposable bottles.

The hardest part to manage is having enough water to drink. Some hotels do not provide drinking fountains or provide a refill water station. Wedging a water bottle into a sink in the hotel bathroom seems unsanitary and also most water bottles don't fit between the sink and the faucet. The hotels sell plastic-bottled water at the hotel lobby supply shop which is part of the incentive for not providing access to free water. For several dollars apiece, you can enjoy the two bottles that are usually left in the hotel room. The plastic bottles cannot be recycled. And even if they are recycled, the plastic waste that is created remains in the environment indefinitely and is absorbed by all living things.

The coffee that is available has multiple waste problems. If you make it in the hotel room, there is plastic waste from the single-use coffee pods or trays. There is also waste from the plastic-coated cardboard cup that is provided. The hot beverage melts the plastic particles on the cup, and dissolves the chemicals that the cups are made of which is ingested. In addition, saving leftover food from a restaurant while traveling is difficult. Although none of us wants to waste food, packing it into a Styrofoam container which then is discarded contributes to waste.

Will I take another vacation knowing that managing waste takes effort? Yes, I will – but with a few adjustments. To reduce waste, take snacks from home packaged in your own containers. Take a ceramic coffee cup to replace the cardboard cup that is provided. Fill your water bottles each time you go into a restaurant from the free water provided. Take and use your own personal products. Avoid food waste by only ordering what you can eat onsite.

HEBREWS 4: 14 - 16

Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has ascended into heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to the faith we profess. For we do not have a high priest who is unable to empathize with our weaknesses, but we have one who has been tempted in every way, just as we are, yet he did not sin. Let us then approach God's throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need.
